Meet Musicians at Children's Concert-in-the-Round Nov 11

Children ages 4 to 12 will have the opportunity to enjoy the world of Baroque chamber music at the Lenape Chamber Ensemble's 'Concert in the Round' on Saturday afternoon, Nov. 11th at 2:00 P.M. in Doylestown.

Children's Concerts in the Round are held in the Life Sciences Building Auditorium at Delaware Valley University, 700 East Butler Avenue, in Doylestown and are a regular presentation of the Lenape Chamber Ensemble in the fall and spring.

The celebrated chamber musicians who will perform Baroque favorites on Friday night, November 10th at the adult concert in Upper Black Eddy, Pennsylvania, will bring to the children excerpts from the program of Naudot, Bach, Braun and Rameau for flute, violins, viola, cello, bass and harpsichord. Performers are from top New York performing groups including the American Symphony, the New York City Ballet Orchestra, the American Ballet Theater Orchestra, the Northeastern PA Philharmonic and the New York Philharmonic. They will entertain the children with their inspirational personalities during the question/answer session. Lionel Party who has been heard many times as harpsichord soloist with the New York Philharmonic will demonstrate his skill with Bach's Brandenburg Concerto cadenza for solo harpsichord. Flutist Anthony Trionfo won first prize at the 2016 Young Concert Artists International Auditions and performs as soloist. Then the children may come on stage to view the instruments and chat with the musicians. Moderator for the 45-minute program will be Violinist Cyrus Beroukhim, Associate Professor at New York University.

The Concert-in-the Round is in the Life Sciences Building Auditorium at Delaware Valley University, 700 East Butler Avenue, in Doylestown. To access the parking lot take the State Street exit off Route 611 bypass and turn left onto New Britain Road.

Admission is $2.00 for each child at the door. Parents and adults accompanying the children will be admitted free. "Concerts In the Round" are supported by a grant from the Pennsylvania Partners in the Arts, a division of the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts and the Bucks County Tourism Grant Program.
